Special to The Courier.

BIG SHIPYARD BY U. S. STEEL

Corporation Will Employ 5,000 Men at 148-Acre Plant on Newark Bay, New Jersey.

Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation has announced that the new steel yard which his company is preparing to construct will put to 12 shipways, and that it is hoped that they can commence building ships in about six months. The initial appropriation for the establishment of the yard, in case it is approved, is $5,000,000.

No corporation in America has a greater capacity for rapidly constructing than the United States Steel Corporation. When, therefore, it is announced that this company hopes to begin the actual building of ships in about six months we can gain some idea as to the problem which confronts the country in the prompt construction of a sufficient number of steel ships to even measurably meet the world's requirements.

The terrific destruction of shipping and the deterioration which is going on in the ships in use will mean the practical exhaustion of the entire supply of ships now in existence throughout the world. To all intents and purposes the entire ocean-going shipping of the world must be replaced by new ships, for submarine sinking and deterioration will rapidly exhaust the world's present ships. Shipyards must therefore, be a dominant power in the business life of this country for years to come.

The yard to be established by the United States Steel corporation will be constructed by a subsidiary to be known as the Federal Shipbuilding company with a capital of $3,000,000, on Newark Bay, N. J., where about 148 acres of land have been secured. It is understood that material for these ships will be fabricated by the American Bridge company, one of the leading subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation, and that about 5,000 men will be employed at the start.

IN HER SEARCH FOR GOOD HEALTH

Tells How Tanlae Relieved Wife When All Else Failed.

The many friends of Mrs. W. W. Hersh, of Soudersburg, Pa., near Lancaster, have remarked on her almost miraculous return to health, and Mr. Hersh feels that he owes it to the public to make known the true facts in the case. He said:

"During the past thirty years I have spent at least $1,500.00 in medicines and doctors' bills in an effort to find a cure for my wife's stomach trouble, but it was money thrown away, for she kept getting worse and worse."

"The lining of her stomach was as raw as a piece of meat, and she couldn't eat anything without causing her terrible distress. Anything fried or greasy was poison to her. Her nervous system was a total wreck, and the least little thing would irritate her, and at night her nerves would jump and tingle so that she couldn't rest, and she would get up every morning with a burning headache. We decided to give Tanlae a trial, and to our delight and surprise, it helped her right away, and now she is in perfect health."

"She can eat more fat meat than I can lean, and whatever she eats digests perfectly; her bowels are regular, and sleep—why, she can sleep like a baby and wake up refreshed and happy with never a headache."

Tanlae is being sold here by the Connelleville Drug Co.

Tanlae can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Hanson's Drug Store—Adv.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 1, 1917

WHERE THE PUBLIC PLACES THE BLAME.

The fact that it became necessary for the state constabulary to come to Connelleville to close up the gambling games and "rank" shows in connection with the last carnival is a reflection upon the efficiency of the city police department which no amount of explanation will satisfactorily remove. That these games, together with shows of very doubtful character, were permitted to be in operation throughout the week was certainly not unknown to the police. In fact, two of the concessions, which differed from the others in details of operation but not in general character, were closed by the police. That others were overlooked, or permitted to run until the state constabulary appeared on the ground and performed a duty that was squarely up to the city guardians of the law and ordinances, is by no means creditable to the astuteness or cleverness of the local force, now organized on the lines of larger city forces.

The firemen cannot wholly escape a certain share of blame for allowing such open violations of the law and city ordinances as occurred during the week. The enterprise having been given for the benefit of their organization, a responsibility rested upon the officers and members to see that the subterfuges were of such character that no person would have cause of complaint, or be victimized by pickpockets or by shrewd and skilled manipulators of games having practically all the odds against the players. The firemen are ex-officio policemen with authority to arrest on view all violators of the city's penal code. They should have made the carnival a clean show or made it clear out.

They, no less than the policemen, fell down on their job, but lack of both there is a responsibility resting upon the city administration for having made it possible for such conditions to exist as would require a visit of the state constabulary to remove them. Here is where the public places most of the blame.

WHY NOT CONSERVE TIME?
At this time, when extraordinary efforts are being made to increase the effectiveness of every speeding-up agency, there is a lot of straining at gnats and swallowing camels which could well be dispensed with. This is no more noticeable than in some of the departments of the government which are wrapping an inextricable tangle of red tape about their operations. Particularly is this true in the railroads engaged in moving war materials, an activity of such supreme importance that it should be freed of every hindrance to speedy operation. Not so, however, judging from the experience of railroad officials.

"During the war emergency it would simplify the problems of the railroads, thus increasing the effectiveness of America's fighting strength, if regulating bodies of all kinds would grant the carriers a respite in submitting thousands of reports on every conceivable subject retarding the time of men who could be used to better advantage." A railroad executive is quoted as saying in connection with short-cut to efficiency in the movement of government materials and supplies and the handling of troops.

"We constructed a spur track into an industry having a government contract and the time of two men was required a month in preparation of 800 pages of a report which we were required to submit to the authorities. One of the men was an engineer who might have devoted his time to far better advantage assisting in the actual operation of the railroad or helping the government in some other way."

We are urged to practice conservation to the extreme in almost everything. What is wrong with the government applying the principle to saving time and red-tape?

No matter where Kaiser Bill wants to test out the skill and prowess of Uncle Sam, whether on sea or land, or under the sun or in the air, there will be no challenge and a good account of their selves.

Why not can some of this August weather for winter use?

Unless the Red Cross representative who seeks to unite the chapters into county units has had some practice as a diplomat he may find the job a little one, even for a New Yorker.

It will take more than hot air to win the war in the air.

German newspapers hint that the allies should make a threat of peace just wait until enough Samians are on the job and there will be all the overtures Brutal Bill will need as preliminary to peace.

The wagon loaders have rather strenuous objections to being placed in a box by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad's box-car order.

Reynolds, J. M. Zimmers, J. R. Campbell, Robert Steamp and O. J. Hess.
The resignation of Miss Florence Muir as music teacher was accepted and Miss Lorna Attwood was elected in her place.

The board authorized a medical inspection of the schools for another year.

It was decided to open the schools on Tuesday, September 4, for a term of nine months.

The school supplies have been or-fine shape.

Worth products according to the printed directions, for results have exceeded all expectations.

While the liquid Nerv-Worth accomplishes wonders in regulating the bowels and liver there are users who need further help for these organs and the Nerv-Worth Tablets were recently formulated with specific reference to the assistance required.
They are especially valuable in clearing the bowels for those whose habits of constipation do not yield readily to the laxative properties of Nerv-Worth, the tonic, a cleansing which paves the way for the tonic's most far-reaching benefits. The name Nerv-Worth alone fits the high status of these tablets. Every benighted Nerv-Worth user will note a groundwork of faith in the tablets when he knows they are a Nerv-Worth product. A bottle of Nerv-Worth and a box of Nerv-Worth Laxative Tablets make up a combination unequalled for overcoming the ills of the nervous stomach bowels and liver.

Ask at the Connellsville Drug Company for these two Nerv-Worths. Two tablets $1 a bottle. Tablets 25c a box.

THE SUN CIRCUIT
Connellsville's Only Theatre Exclusively Franchised by the National Vaudeville Managers' Association and Playing High-Class Vaudeville and Musical Comedies

LADIES
The Arcade is the ladies and children's theater of Connellsville. Every show playing on the Gus Sun Circuit must comply to a certain standard—talent, scenery, manuscript, language, etc. In addition they must be approved by the National Vaudeville Managers Association and are censored by the management of the Arcade. The latter is possibly more strict than the others and there is never a look, word, or deed that would offend the most fastidious.

The Arcade is the only theater in the world that has a parking place for baby buggies. Girls who love babies are in charge of this and they take a delight in caring for the mother and her babies. This is the only theater in the world in which a mother with an infant in arms is welcome.
The girls in attendance keep the babies happy and quiet and the show gives the mothers the relaxation and enjoyment such as many of them have never before known.
This solicitude for its patrons has endeared the Arcade to hundreds of women and children and it is their exclusive theater home.
Many of these have regular seats reserved every other afternoon.

NOW PLAYING

ABOARD."

highest class of attractions, with added features and special scenery and electrical

THE HILLMAN
By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER V.

Once more that long, winding stretch of mountain road lay empty under the moonlight. Up the long slope, where three months before he had ridden to find himself confronted with the adventure of his life, John Strangeway forced homeward in his high discontent, the mare, seeking her stable, broke into a quick trot as they topped the long rise. Suddenly she felt a hand tighten upon her reins. She looked anxiously around, and then stood patiently awaiting her master's bidding.

It seemed to John as if he had passed from the partial abstraction of the last few hours into absolute and entire forgetfulness of the present. He could see the motorcar drawn up by the side of the road, could hear the fretful voice of the maid, and the soft, pleasant words of greeting from the woman who had seemed from the first as if she were very far removed indeed from any of the small annoyances of their accident.

"I have broken down. Can you help?"

He set his teeth. The poignancy of the recollection was a torture to him. Word by word he lived again through that brief interview. He saw her doscend from the car, felt the touch of her hand on his arm, saw the flash of her brown eyes as she drew close to him with that pleasant little air of familiarity, shared by no other woman he had ever known.

Then the little scene faded away, and he remembered the colorful present. He had spent two dull days at the house of a neighboring land owner, playing croquet in the daytime, dancing at night with women in whom he was unable to feel the slightest interest, always with that faraway feeling in his heart, struggling hour by hour with that curious restlessness which seemed to have taken a permanent place in his disposition. He was on his way home to Peak Hall. He knew exactly the welcome which was awaiting him. He knew exactly the news he would receive. He rubbed his whip and cracked it viciously in the air.

Stephen was waiting for him, as he had expected, in the dining room. The elder Strangeway was seated in his accustomed chair, smoking his pipe and reading the paper. The table was laid for a meal, which Jennings was preparing to serve.

"Back again, John?" his brother remarked, looking at him fixedly over his newspaper. John picked up one or two letters, glanced them over, and flung them down upon the table. He had examined every envelope for the last few months with the same expectancy, and thrown each one down with the same throb of disappointment.

"As you see," "And a good time?" "Not very. Have they finished the barley fields, Stephen?" "All in at eight o'clock."

There was a brief silence. Then Stephen knocked the ashes from his pipe and rose to his feet. "John," he asked, "why did you pull up on the road there?"

There was no immediate answer. The slightest of frowns formed itself upon the younger man's face. "How did you know that I pulled up?"

"I was sitting with the window open, listening for you. I came outside to see what had happened, and I saw your lights standing still."

"I had a fancy to stop for a moment," John said; "nothing more."

"You aren't letting your thoughts dwell upon that woman?"

"I have thought about her sometimes," John answered, almost defiantly. "What's the harm? I'm still here, am I not?"

"You Aren't Letting Your Thoughts Dwell Upon That Woman?"

"We knew nothing of her art," John declared coldly. "We shouldn't understand it, even if we saw her act. There fore it isn't right for us to judge her. The world has found her a great actress. She is not responsible for the plays she acts in."

Stephen turned away and lit his pipe anew. He smoked for a minute or two furiously. His thick eyebrows came closer and closer together. He seemed to be turning some thought over in his mind.

"John," he asked, "is it this cursed money that is making you restless?"

"I never think of it except when someone comes begging. I promised a thousand pounds to the infirmity to-day."

"Then what's wrong with you?" John stretched himself out, a splendid figure of healthy manhood. His cheeks were sun-tanned, his eyes clear and bright.

"The matter? There's nothing on earth the matter with me," he declared.

"It isn't your health I mean. There are other things, as you well know. You do your day's work and you take your pleasure, and you go through both as if your feet were on a treadmill."

"Your fancy, Stephen?" "God grant it! I've had an unwelcome visitor in your absence."

John turned swiftly around. "A visitor?" he repeated. "Who was it?"

Stephen glowered at him for a moment. "It was the prince," he said; "the prince of Seyra, as he calls himself, though he has the right to style himself Master of Raymahm. It's only his foreign blood which makes him choose what I regard as the lower title. Yes, he called to ask you to share and stay at the castle, if you would, from the sixteenth to the twentieth of next month."

"What answer did you give him?" "I told him that you were your own master. You must send word tomorrow."

"He did not mention the names of any of his other guests, I suppose?" "He mentioned no names at all."

John was silent for a moment. A bewildering thought had taken hold of him. Supposing she were to be there? Stephen, watching him, read his thoughts, and for a moment lost control of himself.

"Were you thinking about that woman?" he asked steadily.

"What woman?"

Cochran was hostess at a beautifully appointed children's party last evening at her home, 1000 N. 1st St., in honor of the twelfth birthday of Virginia Rist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rist of Dawson, a nephew and niece of Mrs. Cochran. At 6 o'clock a daintily arranged luncheon was served from a large table arranged on the spacious lawn, the decorations being unusually handsome. A color scheme of pink and white was most attractively carried out. The table held exquisite pink and white roses plucked from the conservatory of Mrs. Cochran's home, and a birthday cake with 12 candles denoting the age of the honor guest. The favors were small boxes of dainty novelties. Twelve small girl friends of little Miss Virginia, her mother, Mrs. Roy Rist, and her grandmother, Mrs. N. A. Rist, attended. FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

No Relief—Mrs. Brown Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband was sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks but when I came home I would faint just the same and had the same pains."

A friend who is a nurse asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was advice is to stop in the first drug-store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."

—Mrs. W. C. Brown, 2844 W. 12th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

"KICK" AGAINST WEEDS.

Podestrians On West Side Say They Are Nuisance.
Persons walking on streets in upper Greenwood, West Side, are making much complaint against the weeds that hang out over the sidewalk. Women especially are voicing their kicks because they say on a rainy day a dress is ruined when the dripping weeds brush against it.
The weeds are not trimmed throughout the year, and on parts of South Eighth street and Morrell avenue there is hardly room for one person to walk without brushing against them.

For Tax Collector.
John Stannis is a candidate for tax collector of Duval township, subject to the decision of the Republican party.

OUR ATHLETES ON THE FIRING LINE

Sports of All Sorts Represented in New Armies.

HUNDREDS VOLUNTEERED

England's Boxers Who Were at Home When War Broke Out Responded to Call—Gunnar Moller, Bombardier Wells, Jimmy Wilde and Others Endorsed Themselves to Public.

Jack Dillon, hailed as one of the greatest fighting men who ever drew on a glove, is handed straight for a different kind of a record and oodles of glory since he signed a contract to meet the Germans about one of Uncle Sam's men-o-war.

Dillon, Hoosier man killer, is heading a list of scrappers who doubtless will form the same sort of a reputation as has been blazed behind men of England and France who have made pugilistic glories by their deeds on the battlefields of Europe.

Sports of all sorts are represented in the new armies growing into form in this country. Hundreds of college men, some of them renowned as athletes, have heard the call to the colors. Hobey Baker, old time Princeton hockey and football demon, was one of the first to respond. He was an aviator in the United States corps long before the man hunt for the Kaiser started in this country.

Captain Black, last year's Yale football captain; Captain Harriet of Cornell; all of Cornell's football team; Casey and Horween of Harvard and many, many others have dropped their studies and have gone to help with Germany.

Henry Leonard has promised to add himself to Uncle Sam's forces. Freddie Welsh, deposed from the heights of a championship, has been remarkably silent regarding a published invitation to join the army and create a regiment of soldiers to fight in France. Whether he still intends to do something of this sort hasn't been stated.

Welsh is an Englishman and as such has an opportunity to enlist in New York city, where a recruiting office has been opened for British subjects who may be in America.

Ted Kid Lewis and Tom Cowler are Englishmen. They may take advantage of the opportunity and add their fighting ability to the list of heroes flocking to the colors in this country.

Most of the boxers are eligible for conscription. Few of them who are counted first raters have passed twenty-nine years old, and a majority of them are unmarried. Like other classes of athletes, they are exceptionally well trained and probably would be better able to stand the rigors of trench fighting than any other men in sports. Clear heads and clean living are represented among boxers, perhaps, more than in any other of the sports featured, as a whole.

Bagdad's boxers who were at home when the war broke out have responded well to the call. Nearly all of them are at the front, and some of them have been wounded. Gunnar Moller, Bombardier Wells, Jimmy Wilde and others have endeavored themselves to sport loving England by their enlistments. Georges Carpentier never before was more of a French idol than now since he has been fighting as a French aviator.

Joe Darcy, it has been declared since his death, was preparing to return to Australia and enlist in the British army after he had met Ben Rowlands in this country. He never had the chance to do it, but friends who were with him say the intention was that.

It. Norris Williams, Theodore Dittell, William H. Johnston other prominent tennis players have volunteered.

Cardinals Sign Bobby Wallace. Bobby Wallace, veteran shortstop of the St. Louis Americans and recently in the Western League, has been signed by President Hickey of the St. Louis Nationals and will be used as a utility infielder.

Know How to Keep Young. New York women all look five years younger than the age they give in registration, a supervisor says, because "they know the art of keeping young."

QUIET PLAYERS ARE POPULAR WITH FANS

Connie Mack's Athletics, Greatest Baseball Machine in History, Rarely Uttered Protest.

It has sometimes been said that the scrappy, pugacious bull player or manager is the most popular with the fans because they love a fighter. The facts do not substantiate this statement. It is true that the fans do not like a quitter. No one does. But a half player does not have to be a "pug," continually telling a chip on his shoulder and ever ready for a fist fight to avoid being called a quitter.

The greatest player is not always the fighter; in fact, it frequently is found that the fighter is a fighter only on the surface and that he is not nearly so game at heart as the more quiet and less assuming player.

Of types there are plenty of each variety in each league. There are stars who are pointed to for their aggressiveness and there are stars who are referred to as calm, close mouthed players—men who are put off the field so seldom the fans can't remember the happenings.

Of the belligerent type John J. McGraw, Chas. E. Herzog, Arthur Fletcher, Johnny Evers, Heinie Zimmerman, Ty Cobb, Fred Taylor, Miguel Gonzalez and Rabbit Maranville are the most prominent. On the other hand, there are Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Joe Jackson, Roger Peckinpaugh, Wally Pipp, Lee Magee, Walter Johnson, Grover Alexander, Frank Baker and half a dozen other real, high class players from whom a real, live kick in angry tones never was heard.

The Braves, when they were driving well and streaking around the top of National League standings, constituted one of the greatest drawing cards the game ever has seen. Every man on the club was a fighter. The club won its games by fighting. Bulldozing was one of its greatest assets, and the players made it go over.

Then there were the Athletics—men who rarely uttered a protest. They merely played baseball and were recognized as the greatest machine baseball ever has seen in action. They drew powerfully in every American league city.

BAKER AGAIN IN FORM.

his batting days were over. Recently, however, Baker has been swatting the ball as in the days of old. In a few weeks he jumped into the 300 class of hitters. His long, screaming hits are music to the fans of the Donovan clan.

Two days of constant bargain giving that fulfills all that its name implies. What is a bargain? According to Webster's dictionary, A bargain is a gainful or satisfactory transaction. Merchants' Bargain Days an annual event that grows with greater enthusiasm each succeeding year and this the seventh episode of its kind will be superior to any so far held.

With months of preparation, the progressive merchants of Connelldale have made provisions for Merchants' Bargain Days of 1917 by offering to the public of Fayette and Westmoreland counties bigger and better bargains at such unheard of prices as will be found listed on this page.

At this time when all commodities are soaring in price the merchants are holding a two day festival of underselling, drastic reduction and price concessions that will go a great way to REDUCE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Every farmer, house-wife, miner, coke-worker, mill worker, railroad man, in fact every man, woman and child should attend this great money saving event. Dry goods, clothing, shoes groceries, furniture, household articles and furnishings, candies, hardware, tobacco, meats and all commodities that are needed will be reduced in price for these two days.

In addition to the advertisements found listed below, other general advertisements have been prepared by nearly every merchant and will be found on other pages of this paper. Read every one, check all wanted or interesting items and come prepared for two rousing shopping days. Come everyone. You will be amply repaid by your purchases.

MARKET FOR SALE OF COAL LANDS BECOMING BRISK

Demand Coming From Those Wishing to Operate.
Not Speculate.

WHY INQUIRY IS ACTIVE

Ever-Increasing Use for Manufacture and Domestic Purposes: Fear of A Natural Gas Shortage Stimulates Mining Activity: Prices Attractive.

"Have you any good coal land listed for sale?" That question is being asked real estate brokers every day now. The demand for coal land being so general that many real estate offices which, up until now have not tried to market coal properties, are listing all they can get, and one or two real estate concerns are thinking of establishing coal land and coal mine selling departments. In the last six months a number of Pittsburgh realty men have received handsome commissions on coal land sales, the commissions totaling far up in the thousands of dollars, say the real estate editor of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. A few brokers, who through sheer luck or keen foresight, got into the coal selling game a year ago, are now specializing in it and are not trying to sell anything else.

Some investors who have long dabbled in real estate, view this new turn of affairs with doubt, claiming it is but a suddenly developed speculation. But those brokers who are in close touch with the real situation say the bulk of the present coal land buying is not speculative. It is prompted, as such brokers claim, by the ever-increasing demand for coal for manufacturing purposes and domestic use, caused by the growing shortage of natural gas, and by the warnings sounded by some of the big natural gas companies that their supply of gas is going to be short next winter. The over-increasing heavy demand for coal from manufacturers, some of whom have been feeling the natural gas shortage for some time past, brought about a condition never before known to the coal trade here—active bidding for coal.

The competition has been sharpened by the railroad freight congestion, which has been interfering with prompt deliveries, and in cases of urgency manufacturers have been offering better than current market prices for coal upon condition that it be delivered just when needed. This and the car shortage have made it difficult for small coalyards to supply domestic consumers promptly and have brought prices of coal to higher levels than ever before—$5.50 to $6 a ton, in exceptional instances. As coal can be mined for about $1.50 a ton, the margin of profit has been such as to make coal producing most alluring until the government saw fit to fix the minimum price at $3 a ton. That action put a sudden and temporary check on the demand for coal lands and coal mines, but the bad effect has already largely worn off, especially as many manufacturing interests need coal so badly that they are paying more than the government has decreed.

With the war causing such great activity in almost every industrial line, the shortage in the fuel supply is said to be even more pronounced than it was before so many new mines were opened, and the production of established mines was increased. That, so brokers say, is the real cause of the unprecedented demand for coal lands. To guard against gas shortage next winter, many families in the Pittsburgh district are already laying in coal for winter use, and because of the good prices prevailing many small country mines are being opened and small coal tracts—from five to 10 acres—are being bought and opened up. But it is on big coal tracts that brokers are working principally, and are reaping big commissions, and it is this chance of making "big money" that is prompting so many realty men to give so much time to seeking coal lands and buyers therefor.

While it is said that the big coal mining interests readily agreed to the government's $3 a ton ruling, it is not satisfactory to the average independent operator. He feels that possibly the big interests have the bulk of their production, for a year to come, contracted for at the high prices which ruled before the government proclaimed the $3 a ton rate, in which event the big coal producers will not immediately lose anything by the government's action, whereas those operators who have no such contracts will lose heavily. A local coal man also points out that the government errs in fixing a flat $3 a ton rate for all bituminous coal since it is of many grades; some much better than others and inferior coal is placed on the same price plane as first-class coal. That, it is said, is making a good market now for much coal land that was hard to sell heretofore, hence everything is helping to make the handling of coal lands most alluring to brokers.

Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills entirely cured me." Price 60c. At all dealers. Don't

CONNELLVILLE BARGAIN DAYS

Thursday and Friday, August 2nd and 3rd

A POWERFUL YEARLY EVENT

Two days of constant bargain giving that fulfills all that its name implies. What is a bargain? According to Webster's dictionary a bargain is a gainful or satisfactory transaction. Merchants Bargain Days, an annual event that grows with greater enthusiasm each succeeding year and this the seventh episode of its kind will be superior to any so far held.

With months of preparation, the progressive merchants of Connellsville have made provisions for Merchants' Bargain Days of 1917 by offering to the buying public of Fayette and Westmoreland counties bigger and better bargains at such unheard of prices as will be found listed on this page.

At this time when all commodities are soaring in price, the merchants are holding a two-day festival of underselling, drastic reduction, and price concessions that will go a great way to reduce the high cost of living.

Every farmer, housewife, miner, coke-worker, mill-worker, railroad man, in fact every man woman and child should attend this great money saving event.

Dry goods, clothing, shoes, groceries, drugs, furniture, household articles and furnishings, candies, hardware, tobacco, meats and all commodities that are needed will be reduced in price for these two days. In addition to the advertisements found listed below other general advertisements have been prepared by nearly every merchant and will be found on other pages of this paper. Read every one, check all wanted or interesting items and come prepared for two rousing shopping days. Come everyone. You will be amply repaid by your purchases.

NO QUADRENNIAL ASSESSMENTS.
Governor Brumbaugh Vetoes Bill and Explains His Action.
The bill which provided for quadrennial instead of triennial assessments has been vetoed by Governor Brumbaugh.
"I am in favor of annual assessments," says the governor. "To anyone conversant with the rapid rise in values in certain parts of this commonwealth, it is manifest that an assessment that holds for four years would work a great injustice to the people at large and great advantages to the owning corporations, companies and individuals. The people suffer. The owners of the property grow rich. It is unfair, unjust and undemocratic."

"Say Doctor, This Prescription Works Like Magic"—Physician Explains Why Nuxated Iron

QUICKLY PUTS ASTONISHING YOUTHFUL POWER INTO THE VEINS OF MEN AND BRINGS ROSES TO THE CHEEKS OF NERVOUS, RUNDOWN WOMEN

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy looking people you meet to what they owe their strength and energy and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." Dr. Howard James, late of the Manhattan State Hospital of New York, and formerly Assistant Physician,
Brooklyn State Hospital, says:
"Thousands of anaemic, nervous, run-down people suffer from iron deficiency but do not know what to take. To quickly enrich the blood and roses in the cheeks of women and give them that youthful 'glow,' vitality, and 'stay-cheer' power, there is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron. A patient of mine remarked after a six weeks course of Nuxated Iron, 'My doctor, this preparation works like magic!'
I think the older forms of iron, Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach, but is readily assimilated and you can quickly recognize its action by a renewed feeling of snap, vigor and increased staying power."
No matter what other iron remedies you have used without success if you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test:
See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks.
Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. I have seen Nuxated Iron increase the strength, power and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down people 100 per cent in 10 days' time in many instances.
NOTE—Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. James can be obtained from any good druggist, with or without a physician's prescription, on an absolute guarantee of success or money refunded. It is dispensed in this city by A. A. Clarke and all good druggists.

THE ARCADE.

Despite the fact that the weather has been exceptionally hot the first of the present week it has not kept lovers of really high class vaudeville from witnessing the offerings of Hoyt & Adams Musical Comedy at the Arcade. This talented and classy company of artists have more than pleased large audiences at the matinee and evening performances, and the popular opinion of every one who has attended that they are the best performers that have held the boards at this popular family theatre since the present season of light musical comedies was inaugurated. For today and tomorrow this company will present "All About," a clever musical farce, replete with new songs, dances and an entirely different line of new and original comedy, dispensed by the famous comedian, Hal Hoyt, assisted by Miss Adams. Special scenery and electrical effects will be used with the production and the costumes of the chorus promises to even eclipse the ones used in the opening bill. Owing to the fact that bargain day falling on Thursday, there will be a special matinee on that day for ladies and children. Next week brings the celebrated Grassy Musical Comedy company of 19 talented artists.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE FLAME OF YUKON"—A live act Triangle feature, with Dorothy Dalton in the leading role, supported by Kenneth Harlan and other screen stars is being presented today. A woman as lawless and free of love as Merit's Carmen is the role played by Miss Dalton. "The Flame" is the gamblers and miners call her is the queen of the dance hall girls in a Yukon frontier during the gold rush days. She is a woman without a creed, without a conscience or moral standard, yet when she meets "The Stranger," a young rugged fellow who comes northward to make his fortune, she feels a sudden attraction that draws her to him. Instead of "rimming" him as she has planned, she becomes his champion and determines to go straight in order to gain his respect. Kenneth Harlan, who takes the part of "The Stranger," has ample opportunity to display his ability as an actor of thorough training and real inspiration. Real Eskimos in their native furs and ornaments are seen in the picture. A two reel comedy is included in the bill. Tomorrow, Mary Pickford, the idol of the screen, will be featured in "Madame Butterfly," a five part Paramount picture. Friday, Dorothy Phillips will be seen in "The Rescue," a Bluebird attraction in five parts. Saturday, Charles Ray will be featured in "Sudden Jim." Monday, Ethel Barrymore, the celebrated actress, will be seen in "The Greatest Power," a five part Metro feature.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"THE BROADWAY SPORT"—Stuart Holmes appears in an entirely new sort of role in "The Broadway Sport," a William Fox photoplay, which will be shown at the Orpheum today. Mr. Holmes plays the role of Ezekiah Dill, an awkward, bespectacled gawk, employed as a clerk in the hour mill of the local magnate. An old maid employed in the office loves him but he spurns her for a hopeless ambition to wed the boss's daughter, the village belle. A good comedy will also be shown. Tomorrow "Motherhood," a live reel Mutual feature, will be the attraction, starring the excellent actress, Marjorie Rambeau.

A PATRIOTIC SOUP

Hildegard Hawthorne of the Vigilantes Gives Us the Recipe.

HOW FRENCH WOMEN MANAGE

Begin Your Wartime Economy Sensibly by Starting a Pot-au-feu and Treat Your Family to a Real Meal While Helping Your Country Save.

Our hearts have been thrilled by the visit of Papa Joffre, with all his representatives of French heroism, courage and steadfastness. Not one of us but wants to help him win this war of freedom. And as we look about for ways to do so we find that patriotism like many another good quality, begins at home.

It can even begin in the soup pot! Long before this year of probable scarcity and hardship for all the world the French have been known for their economy, not parsimony, but strict and sweet wisdom in refusing to waste whatever is fit and good for human consumption. To throw away half or a quarter of a loaf of stale bread would be thought a crime in France. How often have American housewives thrown away as much each week!

That stale loaf in France, cut into thick slices and toasted or browned in the oven, is laid in the bottom of soup plates, and over it is poured a generous portion of the great national dish of the country, pot-au-feu. A better or more satisfying meal does not exist.

And this pot-au-feu is made of scraps and bits of food that with us are thrown away. Let every housekeeper in this country set up her own pot-au-feu this year as a patriotic act, as a distinct assistance to Papa Joffre and his fighting countrymen, as a help to England in her struggle against the U. boats, as a prime effort to do her bit behind our president.

The only requisite is an earthenware pot or pipkin of a size commensurate with the family it is to feed. This must have a tight fitting lid and find its place on the range where it can cook slowly and steadily, hour after hour, all day long.

Into this pot, as a starter, goes about two pounds of soup meat, scored deeply across and across; also any bones that may be handy. Three quarts of water cover this meat. Let it come to a boil, skim, then add pepper and salt to taste and set it back closely covered where it is to stay all day. To it add an onion or two, peeled and sliced, a potato or more cut up, sliced and tops from any vegetables you may be using, a couple of tablespoonfuls of shredded parsley, a little barley if you like, chicken feet that have been parboiled and scraped, necks of the same useful fowl. In fact, any little odds and ends that turn up during the day's cooking and that would be thrown away without the benefit of the pot-au-feu for their succulent refuse.

When evening comes take off the soup and remove the bones and such pieces of vegetables as have been put in only for flavor. Cut up the meat small, and remove from it most of the fat. Put it back in the soup, and stand the whole where it will get thoroughly chilled through the night. In the morning skim carefully from the top the sheet of fat that will have risen. The soup should be thick and rich. What you want to serve is heat; it quickly and pour over the toast in each plate. Nothing else is required to make a perfect luncheon except a little fruit as dessert, and for dinner it will take the place of a roast. With little in seasoning you will find it to be one of the most delicious dishes on your menu.

IF BABY COULD TALK.

He Might Say Something That Sounds Like This.

[Prepared by the Kansas state board of health.]

Do not kiss me on the mouth.
Do not let the sun shine in my eyes or the wind blow them with dust.
Do not sneeze or cough in my face, or I may take cold, and that would be bad for me.

Do not expose me to whooping cough or measles or other catching diseases or I may get sick and die.
Do not pick me up by the arms. Be careful how you handle me and lay me down.

Do not give me candy or other things which are not good for me.
Do not give me a dirty pacifier to suck nor allow me to suck my thumb, for it will spoil the shape of my mouth.

Do not rock me to sleep nor teach me other bad habits.

Do not take me to the motion picture show nor keep me up nights, for it robs me of my sleep and makes me cross.

Do not dose me with patent medicines or nasty mixtures.
Do not give me wine, beer or whiskey, coffee or tea, for I want to keep well.

Do not jolt me or trot me on your knee when I cry.

I want the right things to eat, and I want my meals on time.

I want some pure cold water to drink between meals, for I get very thirsty.

I want a bath every day and plenty of clean clothes.

I want my own bed, a comfortable room with the windows open and plenty of time for sleep, for I must have it in order to grow.

I want to be taken out of doors every day for the fresh air.

I want mother to love me and always be gentle with me.

I want to be a good baby.

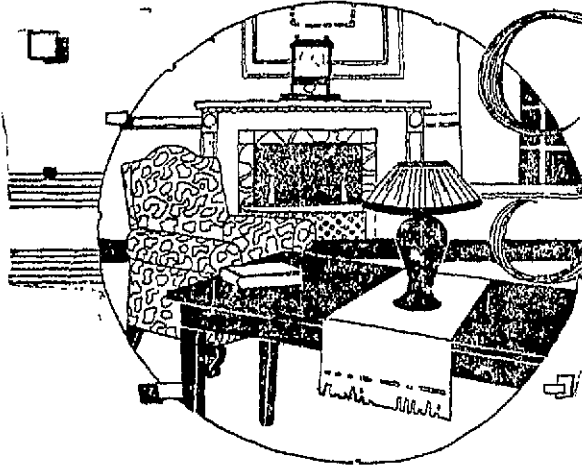

Your Paintings.

Lay your ornamental collars flat on the cardboard that comes from the laundry in men's shirt bosoms, snap on half a dozen rubber bands to hold them in place.

The most delicate collars can be carried for weeks in the cover of a suit case or trunk, this way, taking up almost no room and remaining absolutely fresh.

To Make Good Whitewash.

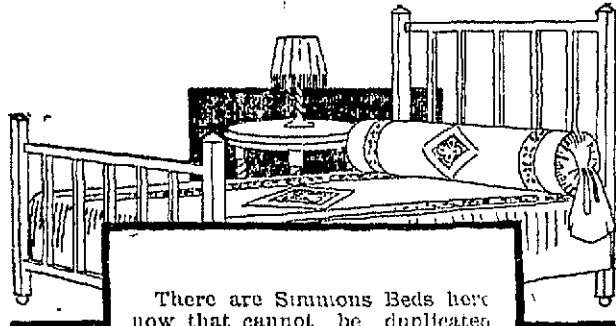

To ten parts of freshly skinned lime add one part of best hyacinth cement. Mix well with salt water. This whitewash when applied produces a clear white that does not rub or easily wash off.
